Making Pronunciation Competitive and Fun for the Students at; Chipping Campden School Academy

The latest Pronounce Live system from Sanako is a piece of software which can be used to help students practise and improve their pronunciation in Modern Foreign Language lessons. The software gives students a very good idea of how foreign words and sentences should be pronounced, by playing them an audio clip of whatever text they have entered, then giving them a rating in the form of a percentage on their own pronunciation when they say the sentence aloud into a headset.

Listen, Speak, Repeat!

This creates a really engaging and fun atmosphere for students who, we find, begin to compete not only against each other but also themselves, in an effort to achieve the highest score possible. The beauty of this is that not only does it inspire students to rinse and repeat certain paragraphs or sentences, thereby helping to commit them to memory, but also gives them a good idea of how their pronunciation stacks up, and highlights the most obvious errors in their pronunciation. They can, with an account, save their results which can be viewed by the teacher via the teacher account.

Students can use this software for any given piece of work which they have saved on the computer, and teachers can even make group tasks which will be shared by all students attached to the group account (a very simple process!)

Overall Pronounce Live is a programme which is wonderfully thorough in its simplicity, engages students and is easy for teachers to set up and use.
